Good Morning:

I would like to comment on the proposed data fields for CTR reporting. The additional fields will increase the burden to financial institution in collecting this information, especially in the cases of collecting the information on a non-customer. Additionally, the filing process time will increase as well as time for training front-line staff to capture the additional information. Capturing the phone number and email address may not be a practical application as those can change frequently.

Sincerely,

Dana L. Close
